Using the tools offered here, when any transition happens in your life, you will be prepared. This guidebook is based on four foundational ideas: 1. Your life must have meaning for you in order to feel satisfied and happy. 2.

We create stories by which we live. You must create an effective story around which you create your life. 3. In problem solving we make something go away. Instead of problem solving we must learn how to create what we want. In that way we make a new life come into being. Create goals and structure with meaning to purpose your life. 4. In order to integrate and follow through with your plan, you must create structure. This will give you the tools to make your new life a reality. The answer to a beautiful life isn't out there. It isn't in that new relationship you are waiting for. It isn't in that new location, new job, or new home. It's in you. There is a resting place in your heart and soul. There is a deep exhale waiting to happen. You can believe it. If you let this course with its guided plan of transformation touch you and teach you, you will relax and you will create a wonderful life.
